WILLIAM T. HUNLEIGH 1848-1916

William T. Hunleigh was one of Kentucky's most exceptional artists. His paintings have graced the walls of prominent homes, state courthouses, and art galleries for more than 100 years. Hunleigh, along with his friend and fellow artist Paul Sawyer, helped define Kentucky art during the era of American Impressionism.

HUNLEIGH'S ART ORIGIN STORY

DeGaris Mill: 5 1/2" X 10 3/4" watercolor signed lower right, Hunleigh.

One day as a young boy, he collected berries and smashed them and used them as paint. He then painted on a white horse. His family soon discovered that he had a talent in painting. So, they helped him craft his skill and support his work.

WHY SHOULD YOU BUY THESE?

These 6" X 7 3/4" note cards are great for multiple reasons. They are great as gifts, to send with gifts, be framed, or even hang on your fridge. They are original note cards that can be fantastic conversation pieces. The artistry is exquisite and would be a wonderful purchase.

On another note, we also have Judy Apple Note Cards, Museum Ornaments, and other items available. Stop on by to look at our selection.
