

A Downtown Diamond

How it Began

The business was started in 1950 by Jean Lewis' father, Owen Cravens. It began as a watch repair shop in the former Lancaster Hotel building. In 1960 the business moved to its present location at 136 East Main Street.

"Downtown was where independently owned, established jewelry stores survived." - Lewis

CRAVENS AND LEWIS JEWELRY, INC.

CRAVENS AND LEWIS JEWELERS, INC. is a family-owned and operated business that was founded by Owen Cravens. John & Jean Cravens Lewis are the current owners; John has a Graduate Gemologist degree from the Gemological Institute of America. Jean and Shari Lewis have completed the Diamond Course.

The store features a large showroom that displays the latest in quality gold, silver, diamond and gemstone jewelry. Giftware lines of crystal, silver, clocks, Cherished Teddies, Precious Moments, other figurines, baby gifts and jewelry are carried in the store. Engraving, repair and remounting of jewelry is also done in our shop. Cravens and Lewis Jewelers is the oldest family owned retail business on Main Street in Downtown Georgetown.

Ask about our Diamond Buying Trip to Antwerp, Belgium, where we will personally hand pick and buy our customer a diamond in the quality they prefer.

70+ Years in Business

Since 1950, the business has done so much more than just survive; it's growing and thriving. It now offers customers everything from diamond, gemstone, 14-karat gold, and platinum jewelry to baby gifts. Cravens and Lewis continues to add more new product lines to make available to customers.
